The user can select multiple checkboxes to upload documents to the Notes database. The problem is that I'm not sure how to get the uploaded documents back to the viewscope to be displayed. My problem is that I don't know what is the id field of the checkboxes so I can use the var rec = Database.select(notesDb, "selectedCheckBoxId"); However, when I select the checkboxes the alert box shows the value of the checkbox but the view remains blank. No information about the id of the checkbox is passed to the view. I tried: var recs = Database.select(notesDb, "selectedCheckBoxId"); var recIds = []; for(var i=0;i

I have a DB connection(its a z/os account) on my local machine. I already have the following code working from various posts on the web. However, if I use the same code and try to connect to the DB it returns an error. Here is the code. DBConnectionPool pool = new DBConnectionPool("DB_NAME", "user", "password"); DataSource dataSource = new GenericDataSource(pool); when I call this it gives me this error: org.springframework.beans.factory.BeanCreationException: Error creating bean with name 'org.springframework.jdbc.datasource.init.DataSourceInitializer#0': Invocation of init method failed; nested exception is java.sql.SQLException: No suitable driver found for jdbc:odbc: - name of connection string- at org.springframework.beans.factory.support.AbstractAutowireCapableBeanFactory. 50b96ab0b6
